"Come and sing a song, lover!"
"Very well; I'll sing of clover:
Sweet, sweet, honey sweet;
Hardy in the open heat,
Strayed from incadewful to street,
Sweet, sweet, honey sweet!
Bees bumble as they meet,
Cattle curl a tongue and eat,
Children play with romping feet,
Lovers come and hearts beat,
Sweet, sweet, honey sweet! Sweet, sweet, honey sweet! There's the song I sing of clover!' "Nothing of yourself, lover?"

Hobson-Hull.

One of the most interesting weddings of to-day will be that uniting Miss Grizelda Houston Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hull, of Tuxedo Park, New York, and grand niece of former Governor Houston, of Alabama, to Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, retired, the United States navy, son of the late of the United States navy, son of the late Judge James M. Hobson, of Greensboro, Ala.

Ala.

Guests attending the wedding will leave New York at 2:10 P. M. to-day, on a special train over the Erie Railroad. They will arrive at Tuxedo station about 3:15 o'clock, and be driven to the Hull cottage, two miles distant from the station. As Tuxedo Park comprises several thousand acres in the Ramapo Mountains, the station, beauty of which has been left.

As Tuxed Park Completes send acres in the Ramapo Mountains, the natural beauty of which has been left untouched, the lovely scenery of the drive cannot be over estimated.

The wedding ceremony will take place at 4 P. M. in the Hull cottage, which follows the old English style of country dwelling in its architecture, having broad rambling gables of grey stucce, with white trimmings and shingles below.

The guests will assemble in the library adjoining a glass inclosed loggia. The library will be decorated with palms, roses and carnations. The loggia, banked with palms and ferms semi-circularly arranged, will make a background for the alter, which will stand directly beneath the central one of three floral arches, forming the doorway between library and Figus.

The Pey Dr. Fitzsimmon, rector of St.

The Rev. Dr. Fitzsimmon, rector of St. Llary's Church, Tuxedo, will perform the ceremony. About one hundred and forty guests will be present, including only relatives and intimate friends.

There will be no bridesmaids or ushers.

The bride will be attended by her sister

There will be no briessinates of usines. The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Lucia E. Hull, as maid of honor, and will be given away by her father, Mr. George Huntington Hull, on whose arm she will come to the altar, where the bridegroom will await her. Captain Hobson's brother, Lieutenant James Hobson, will act as best man.

HERACLEITUS.

By WILLIAM JOHNSON CORY.

Another selection from this writer and biographical sketch, have already been inted in this series.

The Heracleitus (pronounced Her-a-cil-tus, accent on the "cil," which is prounced like the same syllable in "cilmata," referred to in this poem is not the lebrated weeping philosopher, but an elegant writer and intimate friend of illmachus. Linton's verses are an imitation of a poem by Calilmachus on his friend. e word "Carian" is from Caria, in Asia Minor, where Heracleitus was born.

HEY told me, Heracleitus, they told me you were dead, They brought me bitter news to hear and bitter tears to shed I wept, as I remembered how often you and I Had tired the sun with talking and sent him down the sky.

Miss Hull is a beautiful type of American womanhood, and is as accomplished as she is charming. A pleasant coincidence is found in the fact that her great-uncle, Governor Houston, of Alzbama, appointed Captain Hobson's father when a young lawyer to fill a vacancy on the Alahama bench.

THUNDERBOLT SAVED YOUNG MOTHER'S LIFE

Church Members Believe It Was Miracle-What Physicians Say.

Church, of Evanston, to be responsible for the recovery of Mrs. Warren S. Williams, a young society matron, who was suffering from typhoid fever complicated with blood poisoning.

"It was God Himself, moved by our prayers, who hurled his lightning to earlit to save our child," says Mrs. James Calligan, mother of the young woman.

"There is no doubt in my mind," said the physician, Dr. G. W. Kaufmann, "that the electric fluid worked the change that sent Mrs. Williams on the high road to recovery."

It was on March 20 that a baby girl came to the Williams family. The mother, who is scarcely twenty years old, was left in a precarious condition, typhold fever attacking her ac fortinight later and blood poisoning then setting in, making the case one that worried three of the best physicians in the country.

Hovering, thus, almost on the brink of the grave, it chanced that on the night of May 11, a violent thunderstorm began, in the little house at No. 1315 Main Street lay the young wife, terrified and ill. Lightning struck the climney and travelled to the room in which the young mother lay. In a moment the room was afire, but Mr. Williams ran in, snatched his wife from the bed and hurried with her to a neighbor's, a nurse carrying the baby.

"Under ordinary circumstances," said her to a neighbor's, a nurse carrying the baby.

"Under ordinary circumstances," said Dr. Kaufmann, "the young woman would have suffered a relapse from the fright and shock, but from that very moment she began to improve, and will probably be well in a week or so. "The mysterious properties of the X-ray and the new metal radium, so efficacious in some cases, leave no doubt in my mind that the flash of lightning which filled the room had some strange effect."
